CELEBRATING 50 YEARS OF KITTY HAWK KITES

In 1973, while reading an issue of the Winston-Salem Journal, I came across a photograph of someone flying a hang glider in Utah. The image immediately reignited in me a passion for flight that was initially sparked when I was a child, building and flying kites on a farm in Missouri. The moment I saw that picture, I couldn't sleep or think about anything else. In 1974, we founded Kitty Hawk Kites with the plan of teaching the world to fly.

Over the last 50 years, Kitty Hawk Kites has grown into the largest hang gliding school in the country. In addition to hang gliding lessons, we offer more than 25 adventures, from surfing and kiteboarding lessons to dolphin and kayak tours. Everybody needs more joy in their life—not only is it exhilarating, but it changes your outlook on life. I am grateful that I found my passion and have been able to share it with people all these years!

FOR 50 YEARS WE'VE BEEN DEDICATED TO THE MISSION OF TEACHING THE WORLD TO FLY.

We invite you to peruse this Adventure Catalog and find an activity that will bring you joy. For 50 years we have been teaching the world to fly...because if you can fly, you can do anything!

Get Outside and Explore

Written by HEATHER FRESE
Outer Banks This Week Magazine

The world is wild with wonder on the Outer Banks. Arched delicately into the ocean, this fragile yet hardy strand of islands offers an opportunity to explore a maritime environment unlike any other.

Imagine digging your toes in the same sand the Wright brothers lifted off from in the first powered flight as you fly a colorful kite in the brisk breeze. Or imagine paddling through the calm waters of a brackish soundside canal as you watch an egret lift into the air. Or carving your surfboard into the trough of a wave, sunlight glistening on the ocean – these are just a few of the seemingly endless outdoor opportunities you can experience here on the Outer Banks. From wind and waves to waterways, wildlife and the world of culture and history, Kitty Hawk Kites has a way for everyone to get outside and explore all the Outer Banks has to offer.

Since their formation in 1974, Kitty Hawk Kites has stood out as the preeminent watersports and adventure company on the Outer Banks. Their curated selection of adventures will get people of all thrill and skill levels outside to play.

With 11 locations of retail stores and adventure instruction up and down the Outer Banks, Kitty Hawk Kites opens the door for the whole family to enjoy all these islands have to offer, from sky to sea, sand to land, and everything in between.

Wind

One of the hallmarks of the Outer Banks, the defining feature that drew the Wright brothers to the area so many years ago, is its wind. Perched in exactly the right spot to catch air currents coming off the ocean as they stream across the sound to the mainland, the islands of the Outer Banks are a wind-lovers paradise.

Hang gliding is a classic wind experience. You can catch the pros doing it at several competitions in the area. This year featured the 50th anniversary of the annual Hang Gliding Spectacular, an event that's the longest running hang gliding competition in the world.

To experience the thrill of hang gliding yourself, Kitty Hawk Kites has several options. From dune gliding to going 2,000 feet up in a tandem lesson with a certified Kitty Hawk Kites instructor, there's a way for everyone to get up in the air.

Kiting is another fun way to get out in the wind on the Outer Banks. The retail locations of Kitty Hawk Kites have tons of kites to purchase that are great for any age level. Jockey's Ridge is an excellent spot to catch the wind, but kiting is also phenomenal along any of the beaches. Five colorful kite festivals occur throughout the year too.

Parasailing will also get you up into the wind with Kitty Hawk Kites. Soar in the air above the Roanoke or Currituck sounds as you enjoy a birds-eye view of the Outer Banks from above. This adventure is good for everyone ages 5 and older.

To catch the wind while also experiencing the water, give kiteboarding a try. Lessons in this sport depart from the Rodanthe location of Kitty Hawk Kites, where you'll fly in the wind on a kiteboard while in the warm, waist-deep waters of the Pamlico Sound. The shallow water and offshore winds offer a safe play-ground for learning the sport that's suited to new kiteboarders and pros alike.

The Outer Banks offers some of the best conditions in the world for hang gliding and kiteboarding.

Waves

The waves along the Outer Banks are legendary. The shape of the islands ensures that there's almost always a wind condition somewhere that's creating surfable waves. With the clashing currents and shifting sandbars, there's usually good surf for lots of different skill levels. From locations in Corolla, Duck, Nags Head and Rodanthe, you can take surfing lessons to learn how to ride the waves. Surfboards and leashes are provided, and these lessons are available for anyone ages 7 and older. And if your kid gets hooked, Kitty Hawk Kites offers kids surf camps in Nags Head; these run from nine a.m. to noon and are for kids ages 8 to 12. Ocean kayaks are also a great way to get in the waves, and Jet Skis, standup paddleboarding and wing surfing are additional ways Kitty Hawk Kites can get you out on the water. For something new, you can also try the new Fliteboard, where you'll hover over the water's surface on a board as it flies along the waves. If you're looking to hit the water instead, there are many ways to shove off and enjoy the waterways. Sail the Roanoke and Albemarle sounds aboard the 41-foot ketch Movin' On, or enjoy a sunset cruise. Whether you come alone, as a couple, or as a group, your experience will be warm, friendly, and personal. Get even closer to the action on a guided kayak tour around Roanoke Island or through the Alligator River National Wildlife Refuge. If a booze cruise is more your thing, you can try the Vineyard Voyage, which give you a chance to enjoy the water and sip some local libations.

Waterways

There's a whole world of soundside activities that will get you exploring the wildlife and waterways of the Outer Banks. With fascinating ecology and history, guided kayak tours through the area's marshes and waterways will have you threading through the maritime forest of Kitty Hawk Woods Coastal Preserve and the Cape Hatteras National Seashore, paddling through the Experience nature in the wild and diverse eco-systems of the Outer Banks.

World

On the land side of things, the history and culture of the world of the Outer Banks is full of fascinating stories. What other place has lost colonies, wild ponies who arrived via shipwrecks, beheaded pirates, tumultuous storms and daring rescues at sea? For a glimpse of the world of wild horses, try an open-air horse tour to spy the wild Spanish mustangs that roam the beaches of Corolla. Or gallop along the beach with the wild mustangs' more domesticated kin on a guided horseback tour on Hatteras Island. For an up close and personal peek into the most haunted places on the Outer Banks, join a Kitty Hawk Kites ghost tour. You'll stroll through the streets of Manteo by lantern light as your guide tells spooky tales of pirates and other lost souls. Finally, the world of the Kitty Hawk Kites retail stores is a very Outer Banks sort of shopping adventure and a way to bring home a talisman of your trip. They have tons of kites, yes, but also flags, spinners, wind-art, shoes, sunglasses, hats, t-shirts, jewelry and so much more. Whether you're searching for extreme adventure, looking to cross off a bucket list experience or simply grabbing a kite and reliving your childhood, Kitty Hawk Kites is the one stop shop for all travelers to the wild and wonderful world of the Outer Banks.

WHERE THE WRIGHT BROTHERS LEARNED TO SOAR

The first flight of the Wright Flyer, December 17, 1903, Orville piloting, Wilbur running at wingtip.

Many know the Wright Brothers flew the first powered aircraft on December 17, 1903, in Kitty Hawk, NC. What many may not know is that prior to their iconic first flight, the Wright Brothers experimented with heavier-than-air gliders for several years on the Outer Banks. These experiments were crucial to the development of modern aviation.

The Wrights developed then refined their glider designs with experiments beginning in 1900. By 1902, they had developed their third free-flight glider, and were the first to incorporate yaw control, this being the use of a rear rudder — directly leading into the world-altering 1903 Wright Flyer.

After forever changing history, the Wrights continued to refine their glider designs. On October 24, 1911, Orville Wright set a world soaring record of nine minutes and 45 seconds of unpowered flight on the Outer Banks. That record stood until the 1970s, when it was broken by a pilot using a modern hang glider.

Visitors to the Outer Banks can get a taste of aviation history by flying a replica of the influential 1902 Wright Glider, on the soft sand dunes favored by the Wright Brothers themselves.

The museum-quality reproduction of the 1902 Wright Glider allows participants to experience what the Wright Brothers felt as they prepared for their historic flight in 1903. Your 5 flights will take you 5-to-15 feet over the soft sand dunes, just minutes from where aviation history was made.

WING SURFING
GET READY TO TAKE OFF

RODANTHE (WAVES VILLAGE WATERSPORTS)

Wing Surfing (Winging, Wing Foiling, Wingding) uses a hand-held inflatable "wing" to propel oneself on the water using the power of wind. Though it can be done on standard paddleboard (SUP) with the addition of center fin or keel, it is most commonly paired with a hydrofoil and foilboard. The low resistance of the hydrofoil allows the wind to push you in the air and glide above the water with the use of the wing. The sport is a cross between kiteboarding, windsurfing, foiling surfing and paddleboarding.

WHY IS KAYAK FISHING CATCHING ON?

It is undeniable that the sport of kayak fishing is one of the fastest growing outdoor sports today. Countless anglers are ditching the boat — and even their waders — in favor of paddling out in a Hobie fishing kayak.

The steady rise of kayak fishing over the past decade can be explained, in part, by the ease casting off for a fishing session. No fuel or specialized boat ramp is needed. Fishing kayaks also enable anglers to access fishing grounds that are too tight or shallow for larger boats to reach.

Hobie’s Mirage Drive pedal system specifically has revolutionized the game in kayak fishing. Utilizing foot propulsion, Hobie Mirage kayaks leave the angler’s hands free for steering and fishing, rather than constantly paddling the kayak. Patented “Kick-Up Fins” remove the risk of paddling over logs, kelp, shallows, and rocks. Kayaks equipped with 180 and 360-degree technology can be steered in virtually any direction — including backwards and sideways — so the angler won’t lose ground while site casting and their reeling in their lines.

DID YOU KNOW?

On February 20, 1794, Alexander Hamilton, as Secretary of the Treasury, approved the building of what became the Cape Hatteras Lighthouse.

There are two British military cemeteries in the OBX; one at Cape Hatteras light and one on Ocracoke. The land is leased to Great Britain in perpetuity and is considered a sovereign territory. The cemeteries contain the graves of British seamen who died during the Battle of the Atlantic off our shores.

The Pioneer Theater, believed to be the oldest family-owned movie theater on the East Coast, was established in 1918 by George W. Creef Jr. in Manteo, NC. It moved to its current location in 1937. It has been continuously owned and operated by the Creef family ever since.

Hurricane Donna, 1960. Charles Evans Collection – courtesy of the Outer Banks History Center, State Archives of North Carolina.

Some residents of the Outer Banks, known as "wreckers," lured ships to their destruction by walking an old horse (nag) with a lantern tied to its neck along the dunes of Jockey's Ridge. The up-and-down motion of the lanterns appeared to represent safe harbor ahead, causing ships to run aground. Local wreckers would then scavenge the ship.

The unidentified "Drive-by Shipwreck" was found on the beach at Jennette's Pier in 1979. This was the only instance where one could literally drive around to witness a shipwreck from their car.

With over 2,000 identified shipwrecks off the coast, the Outer Banks is known as the "Graveyard of the Atlantic". One of the oldest wrecks is a Spanish galleon that sunk in 1750, and the most recent is the F/V Ocean Pursuit, sunk in 2020, and accessible from ORV Ramp 4 at Oregon Inlet.

Interested in the legends and lore of the Outer Banks? Take a walking ghost tour of Manteo to learn about the hauntings of such storied locations as the Lost Colony or Cape Hatteras Lighthouse. A walking history tour will spin tales of the past and the infamous Graveyard of the Atlantic. Or explore pirate culture and history while walking with pirates!

Want to learn more about the flora and fauna of the Outer Banks? Take a guided kayak tour and explore locations along the entire banks from Corolla to Hatteras. You can even paddle with alligators, black bears and red wolves in the Fishing is a staple of the Outer Banks community. The perfect way to explore the sound is a trip on the Miss Oregon Inlet head boat. Offering half day and twilight trips, the MOI provides all tackle and bait and loads of fun. Catch and release, or the crew can pack your catch to take home.

If you feel like a more private adventure, rent some pontoon boats. Kitty Hawk Kites has 12- and 16-passenger boats for rent. Spend 2 hours or all day on the water fishing, swimming and exploring our sound islands.

If your group tends toward the younger crowd, consider booking a kite making clinic. Learn some of the dynamics behind flight while making your own kite. Then head out to Jockey's Ridge State Park to fly your creations.

Wedding parties or large groups can also rent our Mirror Me Photo Booth, our Hang Gliding simulator, Wax Hands booth, and Splash Blast. All kinds of fun activities for your family BBQ, wedding, or birthday party!
